Live Scan Tonight!!!

At the October membership meeting we will have the Live Scan people there to get everyone scanned. This is the only meeting that they will be attending. The fee is $15.00 and will be paid to Lewis and TCSRA will write one check to the scan company. If you do not get your scan done at the meeting you will have to get it done at another location, and the cost could be quite a bit more. You have to have this process completed so that you can officiate after the first of the year. So make it a point to attend and get it out of the way.

The Coast Soccer Season comes to an end in the next few weeks so we will not have a lot of things going on. If we are asked to help cover any Thanksgiving or Christmas tournaments Bob will send out an email, so continue to check your email for updates.

As a reminder to everyone we do not meet in the month of December, so that you can spend the month with your families. Use the time to catch up on those projects around the house.

See you at the meeting.

Training Time

Holiday Season !!!

Wow, the holiday season I season is already upon us. The stores are already selling Christmas decorations, us as referees/officials are winding down from college season, and getting ready for high school season. Is everyone ready to take some time off and spend with the family? Spend the upcoming holiday time with your family and friends.

With the start of the start of the high school season, bring the relevance that the older age groups are going to stop playing for a little bit to start playing high school. With just the younger age groups playing club coming up, it would be a good time to work on the basics again. What about working with your partner s and conducting an efficient pregame? If a certain situation arises in the game, are you and your partners ready to act? What if your partner reacts in a certain way and you are not sure what they are telling you? Pre-game conferences are a vital part of any game. In professional league matches, pre-games conferences sometimes start the night prior at the hotel. The crew officials will get together and talk about the upcoming games, situations, problem players, etc. If you as a crew are not ready for any situation the might arise, don't be caught trying to make-up later in the match.

THE 2009 CSL SEASON COMING TO AN END!

It seems like just a few weeks ago I started assigning the CSL 2009 fall season. Now it is coming to an end. Wow, how the time goes. Speaking of time going, we really don't have anything else scheduled until January. Take the time to spend the next month or so with your family.

I can't believe my wife and I only have her mother left alive. It seems like the other day her Dad and my parents were here to call up and talk to them. Her mother is in her nineties and losing her mind. It has been hard caring for her especially when she lives more than 30 minutes from us. You really don't know how precious your family is until they are gone. I can't express how important it is to really spend quality time with your family during the holiday season.

I will not be at our last meeting of the year this week. One of my sons is having surgery that day and I am in ride to and from the hospital. I also have to help care for my wife's mom that night after driving my son around. If there are any issues that I need to address, please call or e-mail me. I hope to have our last weekend of CSL (Nov. 21 & 22) assigned and confirmed by then. It will be a much needed break for me as we focus on family during the holidays. This CSL season has been 7 days a week since the beginning of September.

I hope you all will have a great holiday season and rest before starting back in January. I will let all of you know if we do receive any assignments from Thanksgiving to New Years.
